

62. LIFE OF EMC

CIP Number: CREZ-TAU-62

C2r Hook:

He was an engineer. He became a monk. He designed a spaceship for whales. The universe did not laugh. The universe listened.

Unique Proposition:

The authorized biography of EMC2—the Indian Monk character who serves as the spiritual architect of the Vavora mission. A documentary about the man who proved that rigorous science and deep faith are not opposites but translations of the same wonder.

Creative Inception:

Vancouver, 2002. Tomar met a Buddhist monk on English Bay who asked what he was studying. "Visual effects," Tomar said. The monk smiled. "So you are learning to make illusions that tell the truth." The monk's name is lost. His question became EMC2.

Format:

- Documentary, 3 x 40 minutes
- Reference: Field of Dreams [citation:TOC_CREZ2.pdf]

Cost Projection:

Item	Basis of Estimate	Cost (USD)
Documentary production	3 x 40 minutes	550,000
Vedic-mathematics visualization	CGI + scholarly consultation	240,000
Location shooting (Vancouver, Rishikesh)	Travel + permits	180,000
Total		970,000
