

21. RULER'S CREED

CIP Number: CREZ-IDV-21

C2 Hook:

A wounded biker bleeding out on a Delhi highway hallucinates Anang Pal—the king who built the city 1,000 years ago. Both are dying. Only one knows how to stop.

Unique Proposition:

Medical fiction meets time-slip historiography. The first franchise to treat trauma-induced temporal hallucinations as legitimate narrative architecture, not magical realism.

Creative Inception:

2018, Greater Kailash. Tomar passed the Shiv Mandir on Road No.5—the registered address of his own company. He realized he had no idea who built the temple, or when. The guilt became a story.

Format:

- Workshop series, 6 x 40 minutes
- Reference: Assassin's Creed franchise [citation:TOC_CREZ2.pdf]

Cost Projection:

Item	Basis of Estimate	Cost (USD)
Historical consultation (Tomar lineage research)	Reference: Academic research grants	95,000
XR historical reconstruction (10th c. Delhi)	Reference: Assassin's Creed discovery tour mode	340,000
Medical advisor (trauma-induced hallucination)	Consultant rate	65,000
Total		500,000

Proposed Completion: Q3 2026 – Q1 2027
